Carter Circuit Court,

Joseph Bondurant, Plaintiff, The Lexington and Big Sandy Railroad Judgment.
Company and others, Defendants.

[The Hon. J. W. Moore, the District Judge, de-lining to preside in this cause, Wm. H. Burns was selected as a special Judge, who, after hearing the cause and argument of counsel, delivered the following written opinion, to-wit:

lowing written opinion, to-wit:

By an act of the Legislature of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, approved January 9th, 1852, a charter of incorporation was grapted a company, called the Lexington and Big Sandy Reilroad Company, to build a railroad from Lexington to some point on the Chio river, near the month of the Big Sandy viver, and providing for the organization of said company, and for books to be opened for subscription of stock, &c. [See ses ion acts of 1851-2, page 779.] The company organized under this charter, and received subscriptions of stock, and, pursuant to the charter, elected a directory, and commenced the construction of said tions of stock, and, pursuant to the charter, elected a directory, and commenced the construction of said road.

Subsequently, an amendatory act was passed, increasing the privileges of this company, and materially extending their powers and objects of incorporation. [See session acts of _____, page ____] It will be seen by reference to said first act, that it contains a provision whereby the city of Lexington, and counties specified in said act might subscribe for stock in said road; and under this provision many of the counties held an election, which resulted in a decision to subscribe for stock in the road, and accordingly stock was subscribed pursuant to said act, and county bonds issued, and at ax laid on the tax payers of the counties to meet the yearly interest and pay the principal of the bonds in the space of _____, years. The plaintiff, Bondurant, obtained a judgment against the incorporation in the Montgomer, Circuit Court for $_____, and sued out execution thereon, which, as he alleges, was returned "no property found." He then filed his petition in equity in the Carter Circuit Court, alleging the charter and organization of the company and his obtention of judgment and execution against the corporation and its return of nullew Montgomers, and amongst others, that Robert Carter and John N. Hord had subscribed each _______ for shares of stock in said corporation, which they had not paid, and which they owed, and seeking to render it subject to his judgment. Carter and Hord filed separate answers, containing several paragraphs, amongst others, Carter says he has paid to the company $_______ of the stock subscribed by him. Hord, in the first paragraph of his answer, denies that he ever two principles, and says he owes nothing. In the second paragraph he substantially alleges he subscribed the shares of stock alleged in the petition in mone, and says he owes nothing. In the second paragraph he substantially alleges he subscribed the shares of stock alleged in the petition in mone, and says he owes noth contract is parol, and pleads the statute of frauds and perjaries in bar.

Hord and Carter, in a further or other paragraph, in both their answers substantially admit they subscribed the shares of stock alleged in the petition, and that they owe all or a part of it. But say the directors of the road, on their own motion, and without the concurrence of the stockholders, and after the line of the route had been located and work had begun on it, procured an act amending its charter and increasing its powers and the area of its operations, and had changed (under a contract with another manufacturing company at Ashland, for no other reason than to enhance the private property of the Ashland company) the route so as to bring the proposed road to Ashland, wherefore they say they are injured, their rights affected, and they are absolved from liability to pay the shares of stock by them subscribed. The plaintiff filed separate demurrers to the whole of each paragraph of these auswers, and the defendant joined in demurrer, and insisted on the trial of the demurrer, not only on the sufficiency of their answers, but upon the insufficiency of the

of their answers, but upon the insufficiency of the petition, Conceding that the plaintiff's demurrer to the answer legitimately brings before the court his own antecedent pleading, and, if found defective, judgment must be rendered on its infirmities; yet the court has been unable, in considering the petition, abstract from the charter incorporating the defendants, to find any fault in the petition, although somewhat informal and inartificially drawn. It substantialls charges all that is necessary for such a petition to charge. But it was remarked by the defendant's counsel, during the argument, that the charter we's unconstitutional and void, and that therefore no such corporation ever legally existed, and that therefore the defendants could neither be indebted to it by subscription of stock or otherwise, and that the plaintiff could not have a valid judgment against it. No unconstitutional feature was pointed out, or reason given to support the latter position; but the court was urged to a patient consideration of the subject.

The power to create corporations, either of a public or private civil character, is inherent to sovereigaty, and is undoubtedly, in Kentucky, lodged in the Legislature of the Commonwealth, governed and limited by the constitution, in the rights, powers, and privileges conferred on it; for as the Legislature is limited by the constitution of the Commonwealth in its powers over the rights of the people, it cannot create an artificial person and confer on it rights, powers, and privileges beyond the legitimate pale of har own constitutional limits; thus she must be limited in the purposes for which a corporation is created, in the means of its organization, and in its powers of raising money or stock, and in its parsuits of busing a subscription is created.

stores for some articles which could not be had in Paris; that she had not been courted, and never intended, or agreed to marry Dean, and never functions; but when the corporations has entered into a contract through its directors with an innocent third person, though the directors committed a breach of trust, the chancellor would afford no relief on that ground as against such third person; but can see no reason why he should not, as in the case of a natural person, afford relief to a corporation against a third person in an act founded on a palpable breach of trust, of which the third person had notice and participated in at the time; nor do I suppose the courts would, in a collateral proceeding between the corporation and a third person to enforce its contracts, inquire into the relative propriety or impropriety, fitness or unfitness, of the acts of the directory within the range of its powers; for this would be a virtual usurpation of the judgment, pru dence, and discretion of the board of directors, and would be virtually making the courts a final director, for all the private civil corporations in the State, a duty quite too erroneous to impose on the courts. Nor can a corporation in the State, a duty quite too erroneous to impose on the courts. Nor can a corporation by its own acts dissolve itself, so as to escape the demands of its creditors. If this no logal existence, and is improperly exercising its pretended privileges, or by abuse has forfeited its charter, the ancient and modern way to ascertain its forfeiture and stop its action is plainly pointed out and well settled; nor do I suppose that the corporations in splainly pointed out and well settled; nor do I suppose that the corporation is plainly pointed out and well settled; nor do I suppose that the corporation is plainly pointed out and well settled; nor do I suppose that the corporations or one of its corporators, could escape a liability it had incurred with third persons by pleading a forfeiture of its charter; for that would be table to al it had incurred with third persons by pleading it never had an existence.

At would be estopped. Nor by pleading a forfeiture of its charter; for that would be to allow it to take advantage of its own wrong, to the detriment of innocent third persons.

These rules, it is believed, apply to and govern the case of a corporation, and innocent third persons seeking to enforce the liabilities of the corporation incurred in favor of such third person.

The rule would be quite different in a contest be-seeking to enforce the liabilities of the corporation incurred in favor of such third person.

The rule would be quite different in a contest between the corporation and one of its stock-holders to recover of him stock he had subscribed, as such subscriber of stock is one member in the body politie, and must be presumed to have the fullest notice of all its proceedings; and as the corporation occupies to its several corporators a relation quite different from that it holds with the balance of the world, it would seem that, in a contest between the corporation and any of its corporators, many of the before-named rules laid down for the government of contests with strangers would not apply: Thus, I apprehend, in a suit by the corporation against one of its stock-holders to recover stock, the stock-holder might plead in bar that no such corporation existed; that its charter was unconstitutional, &c.: void, or that the corporation had by some act, either of fraud, breach of trust, or change of purposes of the original charter, placed itself in an attitude towards a stock-holder as to forget its right to collect the stock subscribed, or such stockholder might rely on such a change of its original purposes and object as to totally change the institution and thereby absolve the original stockholders from the payment of stock.

In such a case the rules laid down for the government of corporations in their relations and dealings with strangers, have their foundation in sound policy, and are calculated to preserve and enforce the utmost good faith.

But when we come to apply them as rules of government to eases arising between the corporation and ley, and are calculated to preserve and enforce the utmost good faith.

But when we come to apply them as rules of government to cases arising between the corporation and one or more of its corporators, rules of government must be applied suited to the relations such corporators or stockholders occupy to the corporation. I cannot see why, if a court of chancery would, at the instance of the stockholders, restrain the directory from an act that would amount to a breach of trust, the same court, when asked by the corporation to enforce the payment of stock or the performance of my other obligation from the stockholder, to enable the directory to consummate or carry out a breach of trust, the Chancellor would at least decline (if no more) to interfere; or if the directory, in contravention of the original object and design of the corporation, was, at the instance of a part of the stockholders, and for their exclusive private benefit, to so change the briginal plan and operations of the instition as materially to injure and affect the rights of other stockholders, I can see no valid or solid reason why this should not be esteemed such a fraud on their rights as to entitle them to relief, either by withdrawing their stock from the accomplishment of a purpose variant to that they subscribed it for, and prejudicial to the original design of the corporation, and beneficial to other stockholders in their private property, or, at least, to so far afford relief to such inared stockholders as to compensate them, by allowing them to retain of the stock in their hands as used ing them to retain of the stock in their hands as used commensurate with the injury. Or, if the organization or incorporation was illegal or unconstitutions or had forfeited its charter, and was to seek to exclude the office of its stockholders the stock, although the Cou or had forfeited its charter, and was to seek to collect of its stockholders the stock, although the Cour of Chancery would not entertain jurisdiction to enforce the forfeiture, yet it would so far ascertain and judge of the legality of its existence as to allow the proper defense of a shareholder, in opposition to the parment of stock to the illegal or defunct corporation. If no further, so far at least as to decline to interfere and leave the parties as he found them. In fact, it dees seem that Courts of Chancery would be very deficient in their powers of affording remedial justice were such not the case.

I can see nothing so sacred in the rights and privileges of a mere private civil corporation, as to entitle it to an exemption from those rules of justice established in the courts to protect and vindicate the rights of natural persons.

It nowhere appears in the pleadings that the plaintiff is a stockholder in the corporation, and therefore would seem to occupy the relation to the coperation and its stockholders of a mere stranger, governed by the former and not by the latter set of rules and the Court was at first inclined to so esteem and treat him; but his learned and able counsel in the argument insisted as against the stockholders, and the stock in their hands sought to be attached, he was only by the rules of subrogation substituted to the rights of the corporation and that whatever would be a defense in whole or part as against the corporation, was equally so as against the plaintiff and in this view there seemed to prevail a perfect unanimity of agreement between the plaintiff and the defendant's counsel; and although the Court is not satisfied, the plaintiff does not occupy a very different attitude; yet consistent with that unanimity of agreement, we will examine the case in the aspect

A Runaway Match Extraordinary.

On Wednesday, of last week, a certain Doctor Dean, of Mount Sterling, accompanied his sister and a Miss Wilson, from Mount Sterling on a trip to this place, and in the afternoon Maysville stage of that day, accompanied Miss Wilson to Maysville. The next morning, after breakfast, the parties took the ferry boat for Aberdeen, and up-Sonire Shelton entered the boat and administered that the gay Doctor is about 31 or 32 years of age, and the brice somewhat beyond 13 years of age, and the owner of an estate worth about $10. ed, in the means of its organization, and in its powers of raising money or stock, and in its parsuits of business to sustain itself. &c.

As the Legislature of the Commonwealth has power to create a corporation, so it has power to create a corporation, so it has power to or modify its charter, provided such change or modify its charter, provided such change or modification does not interfere with the legitimate fights of the corporation, or those connected with it, vested under the original charter. rights of the corporation, or those connected with the young bride broke from his grasp with a vested ander the original charter.

A negro boy belonging toMr, Black, of Brack en county, left his master on Saturday night of week before last, and applied to the conductor of the Underground Railroad for transportation to some station in her Majesty's dominions, where he might be free. They willingly received him, and, after a few adventures by "field and flood," he arrived before day at Sardinia, his pocket having suffered no little to meet the necessary expenditures. The train, doubtless ou of respect to the law and the day, laid by, and he was concealed during Sunday, and was at night to have made a other run, but having seen full enough of their disinterestedness, and realized the treatment he would receive from these dear friends of the "poor negro," his thoughts once ore turned to his old "Kentucky Home," he determined to retrace his steps. He accordingly left his hiding place and was soon en route to Augusta. Just before reaching the ferry, he was accosted by one of those sympathizing men, who are ever ready to assist others when they think it will pay, and questioned as to where he was going; and having told his story, the man proffered to accompany him home. plainly he knew the road, and having plenty of money, needed no assistance. No sooner had the boy sterped from the ferry-boat at Augusta, than he was collared by the Ohioan, who at home is perhaps one of the loudest shrickers for freedom, and marched up the grade and $100 demanded for his capture. The boy arrived at home about night on Monday, nearly famished, not having had a morsel to eat since he left it on Saturday. He tells his story, and is now working on the farm, perfectly satisfied, by his trip, with the pleasures of freedom .-- Maysville Express.

Our Naval Expedition against Paraguay -The Difficulties.

A correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce, who appears to understand the subject, thus details the difficulties to be encountered by the United States forces in carrying out the 000. views of our Government by the intended expedition to Paraguay:

Much has been written lately in regard to a naval expedition, which is shortly to leave our shores for the purpose of enforcing the just demands of the United States against the Repu lic of Paraguay. One would suppose, from the arcicles published in the newspapers, that this Paraguay expedition was to be a sort of holiday excursion, and that all this Musquito fleet had to do ras to steam up the river to the capital of Paraguay, and batter down a fort or two. Now, it is as well to state what this expedition will reaccede to the demands which will be made by the United States through Judge Bowlin So far from President Lopez having the most remote idea of acceding to these demands, it is thought by those who ought to know, that Judge Bowlia will not be allowed to enter Paraguay Territory, but will be received at the extreme southern limits of the Republic, and sent back from whence

There is little probability that Lopez will permit a steamer to ascend the river, and thereby give those on board an opportunity to view his means of defense, and even should he be ever so willing, it is not likely that he will remove the obstructions which will be placed in the river before Judge B.'s arrival. The river will be ex-tensively boomed and chained. Extensive earthworks are being constructed, it is well known. along both banks of the river, and before reach ing Assumption, the fleet, (supposing them able to remove the obstructions in the river and dismantle the earth work batteries,) will have to silence a fort or redoubt mounting forty heavy steamers will receive a raking fire for the dis an elevation of about sixty feet above the level of the river. Suppose, then, the possibility of passing the above redoubt, the Musqui o fleet four guns, forty-two-pounders. This fort is also on an elevated ground, being one hundred fret above the level of the river. Opposite this fort there are two channels, one along either em-bankment, there being a shoal in the middle of channel on the opposite side to the fort, will not be able, through the narrowness of the river, to bring their gues to bear, as too great an elevation will be required.

To reduce the above defenses, the United States send a few steamers which are to tow raits are to be placed, and they who work the guns will be exposed to the swarm of riflemen who will line the river. Paraguay can easily raise thirty-five thousand men who are far superior to Mexican troops. The American expedition can land one thousand two hundred men, out of which but one thousand two hundred men, out of which three hundred men are disciplined soldiers, and these are the marines. Where are Slavers Built?

The Haidee is a New England vessel. She was built at Providence, R. 1., we think, some five or six years since. We have no idea now, that any respectable shipowner in New England would sell his ship to a slave trader knowingly but, nevertheless, we are informed that two thirds of all the vessels in the African and Cuban slave trade are, like the Haidee, New England built; wherefore the inference is that the rich Spanish and Portuguese slave dealers, who send their agents there to buy up suitable vessels for "the trade," have imposed—and are now imposing—shamefally upon the credulity of our Yankee countrymen.-Express.

Knives are made in Sheffield. If a Dead Rab bit gets possession of one and commits murder, Sheffield is responsible. Ships are built in New England. If a slave dealer gets possession of one and seeals negroes with it, New England is responsible. Can anything be more patient? The simple fact is that the Haidee was sold to a Spanish house in this city by one of our New York fi ms, and a firm, too, as respectable in its pernal character as any in New York. Of course, when the sale was made there was no knowledge o to be finally put .- Jour. of Commerce. The Journal is mistaken Nine out of every ten of the vessels used in the slave trade are pecular in their construction, and many of them expressly built for this traffic; and when one is being built, or is bought or sold, all parties as well know to what use it is likely to be put as though it was proclaimed from the house tops. But no questions are asked, and consequently no lies are told. The Journal may be ignorant of all these things, but we can assure it that many a shipbuil er in New England, as well as "respec shipping merchants there and here, will smile at the innocence or verdancy, whichever you like, of The Journal of Commerce.

The Express, too, need not have its sympathies excited for the "Yankee" on account of any "shamefull imposition" practiced upon him by "the rich Spanish and Portuguese" trader. They are like some young ladies we have all heard of-they love to be imposed up on

A New Amusement. Ann S. Stephens, the well-known authoress, has devised a new recreation for the circles of New York society, in which she moves. Half a dozen ladies, whose means and mansions are large enough to meet the demand, arrange ng themselves to enliven the coming season of entertainment by the novelty of a succession of Histrionic Tableaux. These Tableaux are, strictly speaking, short, but highly finished pardramas, from the pens of our best writers, composed exclusively for, and in some cases by the parties who are to present them, and always with reference to the most critical and elegant correctness of costume. Care is taken to escape the need of much shifting of scenery, and all other accessories not easily arranged in a private residence. For the same reasons, the subjects are so chosen as to combine brilliant effects, a rapid sequence of events, and terse, piquant dialogue, with a careful avoidance of ungraceful "situa tions," or prosy soliloquies.

The invitations are limited, and the guests are expected to appear in the costume of the era indicated by the drama of the evening.

A pleasing and novel feature of these dramatic soirees is realized in the rule that the guests are announced in "character," and are amenable to the "court of honor." Another peculiar characteristic is, that whoever forgets or fails to address the others by their "titles of the hour," is summore debefore the "court of honor," which convenes after supper to pass judgment on the deresoirees is realized in the rule that the guests are venes after supper to pass judgment on the derelict. The playful accusations, withy defenses, and laughable sentences of this gay and intellectual society are not the least sparkling portion of the entertainment.

The holders of the bonds of the Covingtor and Lexington R: ilroad, we understand, have given notice that, at the next meeting Board of Directors, they will demand that the road be su rendered to them. This demand will, we suppose, be ref sed, and the next step will be a legal procedure for the foreclosure of the mortiges by which the bonds are secured .- Paris

A First-rate Distillery for Sale.

BEING about to engage in other pursuits, I offer for sale my DISTILLERY and FIXTURES.—
This property is about one mile below Frankfort, and just below the Lock, and within the range of the proposed extension of the water privileges. It has an excellent wharf, perfectly convenient for the landing carehouse, a stur-near section of the best and most improved patterns for making Copper-distille t Whissy—the engine is a splendid one and entirely new, having cost, a few months since, about one thousand dollars. The establishment is supplied by a splendid spring of pure water which never fails and never gets muddy. The property could, at a very trifling cost, be converted into one of the best and most eligible flouring mills in Kentucky. Any one wishing to purchase will apply to me at my residence adjacent to the premises.

STOMACH OR LIVER.

SUCH as Indigestion, Acidity of the Stomach. Colicky Pains, Hearthurn, Less of Appetite, Despondency, Costiveness, Blind and Bleeding Piles. In all Nervous and Rheumatic and Neuralgic affections, it has in numerous instances proved highly beneficial and in others affected a decided cure.

This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared on strictly scientific principles, after the manner of the celebrated Holland Professor, Borrhave. Because of its great success in most of the European States, its introduction in the U.S. was intended more especially for those of our fatherland scattered here and there over the face of this mighty country. Meeting with great success among them I now offer it to the American public, knowing that its truly wonderful medicinal virtues must be acknowledged.

ican public, knowing that its truly wonderful medicinal virtues must be acknowledged.

It is particularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissipation. Generally instantaneous in effect, it finds its way directly to the seat of life, thrilling and quickening every newe, raising up the drooping spirit, and in fact, infusing new health and viger in the system. Notice—Whoever expects to find this a beverage will be disappointed; but to the sick, weak and low spirited, it will prove a grateful are matic cordial, possessed of singular remedial properties. CAUTION.

The great popularity of this celebrated Aroma has induced many imitations, which the public should guard against purchasing. Be not persuaded to buy anything until you have given Boerhave's Holland Bitters a fair trial. One bottle will convince you how infinitely superior it is to all these imitations. A CARD From Dr. James M. Jarrett, of the New York Lung Infirmary.

From Dr. James M. Jarrett, of the New York Lung Infirmary.

MY connection for the past eight years with the above Institution, as Chief Physician, and a twelve years' course of steady devotion to the Cure of Pulmonary Consumption and its kindred diseases, together with my unrivalled opportunities and advantage of pathological research—aided not a little by a perfect system of Medical Inhalaticn—has enabled me to arrive at a decisive, direct, and successful course of treatment for the positive and radical cure of all diseases of the Throat, Lungs, and Air-Passages. By Inhalation, the vapor and curative properties of medicines are directly addressed to the diseased organs and the integument. I do not advise the use of Medical Inhalation of any kind, to the exclusion of general to eatment; and although I consider it a useful adjuvant in the proper management of those fearful and often fatal diseases, yet I deem it very necessary that each patient should have the benefit of both general and local treatment. The success of my treatment in the above diseases, and the high character of the Institution over which I have so long had the honor to preside, are too well known to need any eulogy or comment from me. At the solicitation of many private and professional friends, through whose phil anthropic aid the above charity has been long and liberally supported, and after due consideration. I have concluded to make such arrangements as will bring the benefits of my experience and treatment within the reach of all, and not confine myself, as heretofore to those only who entered the Infirmary, or who were able to visit me at my office. Hoping therefore that the arrangement will give entire satisfaction, both to my professional brethren and the public. I would respectfully announce, in conclusion, that I can now be consulted personally or by letter, on all diseases as above, and that the medicines, the same as used in the Institution, prepared to suit each individual case, Inhaling Vapors, Medical Inhalers, &c., &c., will be

J. W. BRADLEY, Publisher, 48 NORTH FOURTH STREET, Philadelphia, Pa. BRAGG'S AKCTIC LINIMENT

THIS incomparable Liniment, upon which the great n ass of the afflicted of all lands now rely for relief from the pangs of Rheumatism, Neu-ralgea, Gout, Erysipelas, Caneer, Serofula, Sprains, Bruises, Burns, Scalds, and all cutaneous diseases, is ropidly superseding all similar preparations. The proprietors give for the encouragement of sufferers the following memorandum of a few of the wonderful cures effected by it during the past few months. Certificates from the parties named are in the possession of the proprietors, but their length precludes the publication of all but a few.

One Bottle Triumphant.

Mrs. Moflitt, No. 345 Morgan Street, St. Louis, having suffered for three years with Rheumatism, and tried many preparations without effect, was cured by one fifty cent bottle of Arctic Liniment.

Henry Davis, Mound street, St. Louis, who says he was 'suffering the pangs of purgatory' with neuralgia, for months, was cured by three or four applications of the Arctic Liniment.

Pity the Little Children. A little daughter of Mrs. Lee, residing on Lake street, Chicago, was scalded all over by the upsetting of a kettle of boiling water. The Arctic Liniment was applied according to the directions, and the fire was instantly extracted, and in a few days the little sufferer was well.

Restored to Beauty.

Mrs. George K. Tyler, Canal Street, N. O., had long suffered from a painful and disfiguring eruption en the face, and by the use of one bottle of the Liniment was cured, and restored to her original beauty.

This invaluable Liniment is also equally efficatious in curing the diseases of animals, as witness the following certificate: Messrs. J. & A. Arnot, and Lynch, Arnot & Co., keep the two largest livery stables in the West, and are generally known throughout the United States.

West, and are generally known throughout the United States.

St. Louis Dec. 23. 1857.

We, the undersigned, having used Dr. Bragg's Arctic Liniment for a number of months, cheerfully testify to its superior efficacy in curing the diseases of horses; so well are we satisfied of the Arctic being the best Liniment made, that we would use no other We keep and have keep for a number of years, extensive livery stables in this city, and consequently our experience about horses and their diseases is great, and we unhesitatingly say, that the Arctic Liniment is the only one we have ever found always effective. We cordially recommend it to all livery stable keepers and others having the care of horses LYNCH, AlknOT & CO., Chesnut Street.

Testimony of Mr. Edward H. Rowley, of the firm of Rowley, Ashburner & Co., 14 North Wharves, in proof of the efficacy of Williams' Anti-Dyspeptic Elixir.

Dr. James Williams—Dear Sir: I take pleasure in recommending your Anti-Dyspeptic Elixir, for the cure of Dyspepsy. I have taken it myself for the disease, and have been entirely cured.

Yours, respectfully,

EDWARD H. ROWLEY.

Communication to John R. Penrose, Esq., from Mr.

Franklin Eyre Kensington
It is with great gratification that I testify to the efficacy of "Williams' Anti-Dyspeptic Elixir," which you so strongly recommended to me, and for which I heartily thank you; it has completely restored my health, which I cheerfully publicly acknowledge, with the hope that others may be similarly benefited.

Truly yours. FRANKLIN EYRE.

KENSINGTON, Sept. 12, 1850.

October 10, 1850.

Dr. James Williams—Dear Sir: Having suffered for a long time from Dyspepsy so severely that I was completely prostrated, and having tried every means for relief without success, I was advised to use your "Anti-Dyspeptic Elixir." It affords me much pleasure to inform you that I am entirely cured by its use and I cordially recommend it to all persons suffering under Dyspepsy. Very, respectfully, &c..

GEORGE WOODRUFF.

CORNWALL'S HALF-WAY HOUSE, Bristol Turnpike.

Testimony of Mr. Abner Elmes, Market street, above Sixth, corroborative of the efficacy of Williams' Anti-Dyspeptic Elixir:
Dr. James Williams-Dear Sir: It gives me great Anti-Dyspeptic Elixir:

Dr. JAMES WILLI MIS—Dear Sir: It gives me great pleasure to know that you are again preparing your medicine for the cure of Dyspeps, for many of my acquaintances have repeatedly asked me where it could be procured, knowing that I had been cured by it. As I think that a public acknowledgment of the great benefit I have received from the use of your medicine is not only due to you, but may be useful to others, I now make it. For several years I suffered from Dyspepsy, which increased to such an extent that my health and constitution were rapidly sinking under it. I was compelled to restrict myself to the most simple food, and even that I could not digest; I felt a loss of strength, disinclination to exercise, and (as you have it in your advertisement) a general feeling of depression and indescribable weariness. In the year 1838, hearing from others high recommendation of your Anti-Dyspeptic Elixir, I procured and used it with the most happy effect; und r its influence, languor and weariness gradually passed away, and my appetite returned, which I could gratify with impunity. Ten years have now elapsed, and my confidence in the curative powers of your medicine has of course increased, for it completely cured me when I failed to obtain relief from any other source.

Very respectfully yours.

Will contain another new original story, entitled, "THE OCEAN WANDERER" is a solor between the chivalry, daring seems and romantic adventures of life as a sailor before the mast. The narrative of the "OCEAN WANDERER" is a bold but truthful picture of the most exciting incidents in every quarter of the globe, in which are potrayed the chivalry, daring, freaks, folhes and superstitions of the sailor, together with the tyrannies and brutalities to which he is too often subjected by the officers who command our vessels. Some of these scenes develope a refinement of cruelty and a systematic torture that cannot fail to send a chill of horror through every civilized community! This is the dark side of the picture. "A Life on the Ocean" has its sunshine as well as its storms—its pleasures as well as its pains—and the author has most happily and forcibly presented these various phases of life on the great deep, in the progress of the "OCEAN WANDERER."

The descriptions of the manners and customs of the Natives of the "far-off Isles of the Sea," among whom the author passed a portion of his eventful life, are full of interest, He carries the reader throthe delightful groves where the banana and cocoanut grow—and anon takes him far away into the solitary forests of Tropical fruit, which are only to be found in the Isles of that clime "where summer reigns eternal"—passing in rapid succession before his mental vision a panorama of the most gorgeous picture in the world. Amid this delightful scenery, after all hope of ever gazing on the glorious stripes of his native land, or seeing the friends of his childhood again the author makes a discovery of the most startling character which changes the whole current of his adventurous career. "The Ocean Wanderer finds himself at home among the natives."

There is a reckless daring in the life of the sailor which is un
